Ambitious Plan to Save Coastal Green Belt

In an all out attempt to forestall any subdivider's desire to cut up the beautiful, wild countryside south of Carmel River, Thomson Hudson has proposed the organization of a private club that will be situated on 25,700 acres of prime property on the Peninsula.

Membership in the Headland Club will cost $200,000, with the money being used to exercise options to acquire substantial acreage involving some of "the most scenic lands in the Western Hemisphere." Hudson has options on 1200 acres of the Stuyvesant Fish Palo Corona Ranch, 300 acres of the Odello artichoke ranch, and 20,000 acres of the Rancho San Carlos.

Hudson says, "The membership is restricted to 250 persons" who are interested in preserving the natural beauty of this area, and who want a protected homesite on about 5 acres of this vastly beautiful land.

"Unless the plan succeeds," Hudson says, "in another 20 years the ranches will be gone, cut into small parcels. There have already been attempts to subdivide the artichoke fields in the area." He went on to mention that the lands included in this mammoth project have been held and protected by families for generations; but, now, the land stands in the precarious position of being subdivided. The artichoke field owners have undoubtedly had offers to sell, and "we are afraid that the land holders are considering selling out to the subdividers."

Hudson stressed that there will be no commercial structures on this side of the River (meaning South of Carmel River) and that the land will not be chopped into little lots like the other side of the River (meaning Mission Fields).

If all goes according to plans, the land acquired will continue to have agricultural projects with hopes that they will become self sustaining. "If they don't, then, we'll keep them anyway," he says.

Once developed, The Headland Club will have a golf course, polo field, horse trails, tennis courts and other recreational features.

For those who do not plan to build right away, Hudson said there will be a guest house provided for lodging.

When asked when all the details should be cleared up, Hudson said, "It's impossible to say for sure. This is the first time anything like this has ever been tried."

HI TWELVE

Mr. Charles Dawson, Principal of Carmel Evening School and Director of Community Service was the speaker at Carmel Hi Twelve luncheon Monday. He told the members that 70% of the Carmel Night School classes were composed of women. He said art classes were the most heavily enrolled and Spanish is now the most popular of the language classes. The practical courses such as typing just don't go over and seldom survive opening night.

House Tour Planned For Saturday

A small contemporary home designed by architect Joyce Smith Stevens for a small, irregular lot in Carmel Woods, will be one of the six Peninsula homes designed by members of the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects, to be open to the public next Saturday from 1 to 5, on the house tour sponsored by the Women's Architectural League.

Refreshments will be served at this interesting house, the structural skeleton of which exposes redwood posts, beams, and headers which are bolted together. Pebbles from San Simeon beaches have been applied to the stucco surface of the panels between the posts.

Tickets may be procured by calling 624-3986 or purchased at each of the homes. Other League committee members are Mrs. Marcel Sedletzky and Mrs. Walter Burde.

MONTEREY JAZZ FESTIVAL

A RESIDENT NOT A TOURIST

By James Buff

Friday night, September 15, the balloons went up and the tenth year of Jazz Babe by the Bay (Monterey Bay, that is) went on. Everybody was there; Dizzie Gillespie, John Lewis, James Moody, Mel Torme, Carmen McRae, Woody Herman and Herd, Ray Brown, Louis Bellson, Ornette Coleman, Don Ellis, nine visiting musicians from Europe, Earl Fatha Hines, Bill Holman echoes of Ellington, memories of Billy Strayhorn, Billy Holliday, Dave Lambert and other fine artists who were with us once and for too short a time.

There were new faces as well, also surprise visits from old friends. The sound was symphonic, to soothing to scream. The sight was psychedelic from the flashing lights on stage by the "Head Lights," to the art exhibit, to the dress of the guests. If ever there was a costume ball, this was it! There was also a plethora of knees. Had no idea so many people were jointed between hip and ankle in such original ways. The smell was roasting peanuts, barbeque from the "Soul Food" wagon; shish kebab from the Arab contingent; pastrami and sizzling steak sandwiches from the Jewish group, Paolina's pizza and Italian sausage; tacos, hot dogs, perfumed candles, excited people, and that wonderful on/off stage scent, which in the case of jazz, is redolent with hot brass.

Show stoppers, bringing the audience to its feet, were many this year. There was Janice Joplin, a folk rock singer with Big Brother and the Holding Company, finishing Saturday afternoon's program with a near hysterical rendition of "Ball and Chain." She not only brought much of the audience to its feet, but inspired some of it to dancing in the aisles and in front of the stage. No mob scene though, as typifies many rock performances.

Friday night it was the perennially great saxophone of Illinois Jacquet, backed by John Lewis, piano; Louis Bellson, drums - and Ray Brown, bass; an all star performance. This instant joining of old friends in peak performances continued when Dizzie Gillespie dropped in on John Lewis and the Modern Jazz Quartet's segment on Saturday night, after telling the audience that these were "my boys." They had been his rhythm section during the days of his big band. The sound, though delicate and restrained as jazz goes, provokes great excitement and even, in my case, tears of sheer delight. Dizzie, James Moody, the extraordinary flautist; John Lewis and Louis Bellson dropped in again. Sunday afternoon to join the fine music written and conducted by Yugoslavian composer Miljenko Prohaska. It was tribute to Prohaska's excellent work, a compliment returned by a delighted audience.

John Lewis was responsible for bringing the European guests to the Festival and was well rewarded by the excitement generated as in the case of the Hungarian guitarist, Gabor Szabo, who, playing the same afternoon, had the packed house aroused and arising.

Earl "Fatha" Hines flashing away at the piano both Saturday and Sunday nights, really didn't need the light show in the background at all. When he comes on stage he lights it up all by himself. It's remarkable to see a man who not only loves what he's doing but the people for whom he's doing it, and like Woody Herman and Herd who played on the same nights, he makes you remember everything you ever knew about jazz and then surprises you with something

CARMEL MUSEUM OF ART OPENS

By the animated buzz at the opening Saturday evening of the Carmel Museum of Art which makes use of the old Wells Fargo Bank Building on Dolores, it was evident that there were many delightful surprises and many memories stirred up by the exhibition of paintings and sculpture by early members of the art colony which made Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula famous.

Members clustered around the stone head of George Sterling by Ralph Stackpole. Others recalled incidents in the life of Xavier Martinez whose head by Miss June Hass, one of his pupils, was on display. Of this work, Walter Pach one of leading elements of the school said, "one of the finest I've ever seen," according to Kent Seavey, curator of the new museum. Marty, as he was called did the nearby sketch of Sterling, as well as his own self-portrait sketch.

There was much interest in the group of paintings done by the earliest group, such as those by Jules Tavernier who began the colony in 1875. He was a member of the Bohemian Club in San Francisco who came down weekends and then settled in Monterey. He brought with him Meyer Straus, Ransome Holdredge, and Raymond Yelland, one of the leading art teachers from the American National Academy of New York who taught at Mills College and the University of California at Berkeley.

These were the artists who drew Robert Louis Stevenson here when he heard about them. Then there was Gideon Denny, marine painter, William Coulter, the self-taught Julian Ricks, Will Sparks and Percy Gray. An early Rollo Peters, whose son died recently, was much admired, as was the Portrait of a Little Girl done about 1908 by Joe Raphael.

There were a couple of very fine George Seideneck paintings, and a lovely one, of "Rain" by his wife, Catherine; one by Arthur Hill Gilbert, Ferdinand Burgdorff and a gay peasant dance by M. DeNeale Morgan but none of the artists were able to make the opening. Mrs. Jeanie Morgan Klenke, Morgan's sister was there, however.

Others recalled but not present were Edda Heath and E. Charlton Fortune. Miss Fortune was represented by one of her best in fresh green tones.

Perhaps the most striking looking person present was

Ann Walker Marries D. Hess

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Hess (Anne Stewart Walker) stand on the steps of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, following their marriage on Saturday, September 9.

Anne is wearing an heirloom lace veil which was in the family of her late father, Kenneth S. Walker of Pebble Beach. She and her mother, Mrs. William F. Borland of Lake Forest, designed her ivory satin gown.

Samuel F. B. Morse, the bride's grandfather, and Mrs. Morse of Pebble Beach, were present at the reception which followed the small, family wedding, in the Pavilion Room at the Fairmount Hotel, as was her aunt, Mary Morse Osborne of Carmel Valley.

Anne, who attended the San Francisco Art Institute, is helping to manage the Hansen Art Gallery in San Francisco, where the couple will live after a Hawaiian honeymoon.

Mr. Hess, the son of Mrs. Karl Hess of San Francisco, is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. Former U. S. Air Force officer, he is a stockbroker with Schwabacher and Company in San Francisco.

Jan Broberg Weds William Densmore

Janice Broberg became the bride of William Marsh Densmore at the Carmel Presbyterian Church on September 2, with Dr. George Hall performing the two o'clock ceremony.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Broberg of Carmel. A graduate of Carmel High School, she attended Linfield College in Oregon.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Densmore of Newman. A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, he now attends Hastings Law School in San Francisco where they will live.

Jan chose a floor length linen gown designed with a French lace bodice, long sleeves, and a Watteau back topped with a large bow. A matching bow held the English silk illusion elbow length veil. Her bouquet was of white daisies and baby ivy.

Her sister Lindsay Marie Broberg was her attendant. She wore a full length yellow organza over taffeta, with yellow shoulder length veil, and she carried yellow daisies. James Lloyd Linfert of Berkeley served as best man and ushers were also from Berkeley.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents.

At the University of California at Davis, this fall he will train the latest group of volunteers, after which he will work with them in Kathmandu for three months. When that assignment is completed he will come back and go to school.

A welcoming party for him was given by his parents last Saturday.

Mary and John Elber Parents

Nathaniel Graham Elber was born September 16 at Community Hospital. Mother, father and son are doing fine. Mary was former social editor of the Pine Cone. Good luck with your new son, Mary and John.

Will Shaw, AIA, who recently won the Prix de Rome in Environmental Design, and Mary Morse Osborne left last week for Mexico where they will be married before leaving for Rome on September 22. They will be the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Fulton Freeman who also have a home in Carmel. ## White Oaks Theatre Group Goes on Tour

After a successful summer showcase season, which ended with a Benjamin Britten opera and chamber music concert, the musicians have packed their instruments and dispersed to all parts of the United States and the core "interns" who have received classes in voice and dance, have gone on tour.

Chris Nance, who directed the small but excellent group of instrumentalists, has returned to the University of Louisiana. Chris attended a conductor's workshop in Amsterdam, Holland last summer and instructed for a time at the Mozartium in Salzburg, Austria.

Greg and Tom Janusz, percussion and bass, have returned to the University of Miami, Florida. Linda Boblitt, the nutty red head in "Eden Skidoo" and "Goldilocks" has returned to Los Angeles. Ron Stark, the lead in "110" is back at San Francisco State.

Gale Peterson, talented choreographer and artistic director, has written one of the shows to be given by the touring company for school-children. "Winnie the Pooh" will be given in Redding, California for a thousand children and parents. It is also booked for Red Bluff, Walnut Creek, and Modesto.

The group returns to the Peninsula to appear in the Fine Arts Festival, October 21, at the Monterey County Fair Grounds. Then it is off to Merced county where they will give a number of shows and on to other places.

WHAT'S DOING?

One business that's really catching on is the telephone answering service. These businesses (not part of the phone company) answer the phone for just about everyone who needs to be available to the public at all hours:
lawyers, repair services, salesmen, and doctors—just to name a few. Since the first one was originated over 40 years ago, the number of answering services in California has grown to more than 700 and they serve over 100,000 clients.

From taking department store orders after hours, to serving as a secretary for busy people, the telephone answering service is another part of the ever-widening range of telephone uses. And you'll find them listed in the Yellow Pages of your telephone book.

Starting September 22 the Bell Telephone Hour will be presented every third Friday. Please check your local newspaper for time and station.

Have you ever spent unnecessary time searching through stacks of old papers, coupons, and match-
books for an important phone number —only to find it written on a crumpled grocery list?

Well, I've found there's an easy way to keep those important numbers handy.

Just call the Monterey Business Office and ask your Service Representative for a Personal Telephone Directory. She'll gladly send you one free.

Your Personal Directory has space for names, addresses, Area Codes, personal and emergency numbers. It's the handy way to keep frequently called numbers at your fingertips. And if you want more than one, just let her know. She'll be happy to send them to you.

Carmel Business Association Keeps Inventory Tax Battle Alive

The Carmel Business Association executive committee continues its war against the inventory tax, writing their representatives explaining their stand on the question and demanding a repeal.

The following are responses from Donald L. Grunsky, Senator, and John G. Veneman, Chairman of the California Legislature Assembly Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

Mr. Grunsky writes to Association president August H. Johnson:

Dear Mr. Johnson:

I have your letter expressing the support of the Carmel Business Association for the repeal of the inventory tax.

I too am opposed to the tax, and would like to see it abolished. Unfortunately we were not successful in retaining provisions for the repeal of the tax in the tax bill at this session of the Legislature.

Kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,
Donald L. Grunsky.

Mr. Veneman writes:

Dear Mr. Johnson:

Thank you for your letter wherein you express your opposition to the business inventory tax. I concur wholeheartedly with your position and have worked diligently toward the repeal of this tax.

This year I introduced Assembly Bill 484, a major tax reform proposal, which would have provided for the elimination of the business inventory tax and also would have provided replacement revenues. Unfortunately, I lacked sufficient support to obtain passage of this legislation. As you know, the most controversial portion of AN 484 was the provision calling for withholding of state personal income taxes.

There were other measures, AB 101 and AB 103, which called for the repeal of the business inventory tax, but which did not provide a method for replacement revenues. For this reason, these bills were rejected by our Committee.

You may be aware that I offered an amendment to the Governor's tax program which provides that 1/2 of 1% of the increase in the Bank and Corporation Tax, beginning in 1968, shall be placed in a Property Tax Relief Fund which will be used to provide replacement revenue to local government to compensate for revenue lost by the repeal of the property tax on business inventory and household items. Although this does not achieve what you and I would like, I do feel that we have made a major step toward the ultimate repeal of this inequitable tax.

Please be assured that I shall continue to devote every effort toward the repeal of the business inventory tax in the coming sessions of the Legislature. Your support of my position is appreciated.

Sincerely,
John G. Veneman

Modern Day Prophet

A woman who predicted the assassination of President Kennedy and who says that there will be peace in 1999 after a world holocaust will appear in Monterey Sept. 30 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Jean L. Dixon, noted psychic who claims that "Ronald Reagan is America's man of destiny," will make predictions on Viet Nam and predictions on national and international affairs in her only appearance in California this year.

The program, beginning at 8 p.m., under the auspices of the Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove, will benefit community projects of the club, such as a donation to the Community Hospital, assistance to a Peninsula senior citizens project, and to the Quota Club's hard of hearing program.

Mrs. Dixon's Children to Children foundation, a project that helps needy children discover and apply their purposes and talents, will receive 50 per cent of the donations. She herself accepts no payment for her appearances or services.

Mrs. Dixon correctly predicted the deaths of Winston Churchill, Mahatma Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Marilyn Monroe, and Carole Lombard. "Gift of Prophecy," a two-million-copy, best selling book written by Ruth Montgomery describes the psychic's life.

Reagan "must be on guard against an invasion of his camp by the Eastern establishment." Two prominent East Coast politicians, one Republican and one Democrat, will deliberately give Reagan wrong advice that may cause him to make serious mistakes.

Invitations to a cocktail reception honoring Jean L. Dixon, noted psychic who will appear in Monterey Sept. 30, are now being mailed by the Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove.

The reception will be held at 6 p.m. at Estrada Abode in Monterey prior to her 8 p.m. talk at the Monterey County Fairgrounds arena.

Donations of $25 per person are tax deductible. Proceeds will benefit community projects of the club, which is arranging Mrs. Dixon's appearance, and the psychic's Children to Children foundation, a project that helps needy children discover and apply their purposes and talents.

A brief question and answer period will be included in the reception.

The Complete Gardener

... a regular diet of information having to do with plants

The war on insects and the war on weeds ... we continually do battle on two fronts. We don't mind exterminating something with a name like "earwig," but who doesn't hesitate before applying the spray to "creeping Charlie?" The common names of many weeds are indeed colorful and their origin is interesting. Many, you will note, are names for birds and animals. The seeds and young leaves of chickweed are relished by birds. Hawkweed derived from an old belief that hawks ate this plant to strengthen their eyes. The French described the leaf of a certain plant as looking like a lion's tooth. Thus "dent de lion" became dandelion.

But, thanks to modern "chemical warfare" weeds can be removed from lawns without the time or effort of digging or pulling. Anytime a weed is growing it can be controlled chemically. In turf areas it is important, first, to promote a strong growth of grass by feeding it regularly. Then allow the weeds to produce a sufficient leaf area to accommodate the herbicide. Allow the spray material to remain on the leaves for five or six days before mowing or watering. The Complete Gardener made mention, last spring, of a new herbicide, Banvel D, which is now available in combination with 2,4-D under several labels. The reports we have received from readers now encourage us to recommend this blend most highly as an effective control for the tougher lawn weeds.

Incidentally, while we're on the pesticide subject, are you using a "spreader-stick-

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Mary's Party Takes The Cake"

Recently a baby shower was given for Mary Elber lately of the Pine Cone's staff. A gaily decorated clothes basket with Japanese umbrella overhead was soon overflowing with gifts for the newly arrived baby boy. As each guest appeared, she served herself with a well-iced wine punch from the crystal bowl. Finger sandwiches were on hand but the cakes were what really made the party as far as refreshments.

A novel idea is to provide various sauces in separate containers to surround the home baked sponge cake as shown in our picture. Vanilla ice cream adds a cool base for the sauces. And now to the cake:

Sponge Cake

One and a fourth cups sifted cake flour; ¼ cup sugar;

Serve with vanilla ice cream scoops and the following sauces:

Strawberry Jam Sauce: Blend ½ cup to ¾ cup light corn syrup with 1 cup strawberry jam or preserves. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

Mocha Pecan Sauce: Combine 1 cup chocolate flavored syrup, 2 tbsps instant coffee, and ½ cup chopped pecans. Makes about 1½ cups.

Peanut Butter Sauce: ½ cup dark corn syrup; ½ cup sugar; 1/3 cup water; ¼ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter; 1/3 cup salted peanuts. Combine corn syrup, sugar and water in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Simmer 10 minutes. Cool to room temperature; stirring occasionally. Blend in peanut butter; add nuts. Store in covered container in

A light homemade sponge cake makes the party what with a variety of sauces and vanilla ice cream as accompaniments.

¼ tsp. salt; 5 egg whites; 1 tsp. cream of tartar; ¼ cup sugar; ¼ cup light or dark corn syrup or pancake & waffle corn syrup; 5 egg yolks ½ tsp. vanilla; ½ tsp. lemon extract.

Mix and sift together cake flour, sugar and salt; sift twice again. Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until slightly mounded when beater is raised; gradually beat in sugar; slowly add corn syrup and continue beating until whites stand in firm peaks. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in vanilla and lemon extract. Fold egg yolks into beaten egg white mixture. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, sifting about ¼ cup at a time over surface. Turn into ungreased 10 x 4-inch tube pan and cut through with spatula to remove large bubbles. Bake in 325 F. (slow) oven for 50 to 55 minutes or until cake is lightly browned. Invert pan and let cake stand until cool, about 1 hour. Inverted pan may be placed over an empty bottle and the cake allowed to hang while cooling. To remove from pan, loosen sides with spatula.

refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups.

Pineapple Mint Sauce: ¾ cup light corn syrup; 1 cup (9-oz. can) crushed pineapple; ¼ tsp. peppermint flavoring; few drops green food coloring. Combine all ingredients. Cover and chill thoroughly. Makes about 1½ cups.

Or you may decorate the sponge or angel food cake with an orange butter frosting which you allow to dribble down the sides of cake.

Orange Butter Frosting: 6 tbsps. butter; ½ to 1½ tbsps. grated orange rind; 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar; dash of salt; ¼ cup orange juice (fresh or quick-frozen concentrated); 2 drops almond extract. Cream butter and orange rind. Add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add salt and mix well. Then add remaining sugar, alternately with orange juice, beating after each addition until smooth. Add almond extract and blend.

But if you don't have time to actually bake a cake, buy a large chiffon cake, slice into 3 layers. Spread with following

Pineapple-Frosting: Soften 1 env. plain gelatin in 2 tbsps. pineapple juice for 5 minutes. In top of double boiler, mix ½ cup pineapple juice, ¼ cup sherry; 2/3 cup sugar, dash of salt, 2 egg yolks and 1 whole egg; cook over boiling water until mixture coats spoon. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Cool mixture thoroughly. Beat 2 egg whites stiff. Whip 1 cup heavy cream until thick and shiny. Fold egg whites and cream into pineapple mixture. Frost between layers and over outside of cake. Chill in refrigerator before serving.

er" in your sprays? Many retailers, of pesticides fail to mention this item to their customers and, largely, it goes unnoticed. But if you were to watch a professional sprayer who deals out death daily to insects, weeds and fungus you'll see him add a few mysterious drops of X-77 to his pesticides. This material, he will tell you, causes the drops of spray to be smaller, so more surface area is covered, and makes it adhere better for a longer effect. We know that it almost doubles the value of amino-triazole in wiping out poison oak.

"Advertising is like the little girl with the curl... When she was good she was very good, and when she was bad she was horrid!"

There are many sharp differences between the Kerr audience and average listeners to other radio stations. One difference: the remarkable loyalty of KERR listeners. They are not typical dial-twisters... a large percentage of them never listen to other stations. Takes this difference—audience loyalty—add to it other unique differences, such as unusually high incomes, better educations and occupations, and you reach an inescapable conclusion:

KERR should be an integral part of your advertising program in the Salinas-Monterey area.

MUSEUM OF ART

Nancy Faridany who was there with her mother, Mrs. Richard Lofton whose painter husband died a few years ago. Young Nancy was in silver from head to foot, her mini-dress made of an open weave of silver lurex which her husband, Edward Faridany, brought her from Paris.

Guests were surprised to find an early George Bellows portrait which he painted here in 1910. The Museum has some interesting old photographs of him with Robert Henri, the great New York art teacher with students who since distinguished themselves. Ask Kent Seavey to show them to you.

There was an interesting Western Canyon painting by Maynard Dixon and another, "Rising Fog" by Paul Dougherty, and a charming little Rollo Peters painting of a typical cottage at the beach with washing on the line.

Mrs. Cecil Ashdown, her white hair contrasting with her silver fox stole, made a lovely portrait. She is the widow of the former ambassador to Spain. Her son, Juan De La Guerra Barrett, of Carmel and San Francisco, was talking animatedly with Mrs. Robert Parratt, one of the board members, and a director of the California Historical Society. Mr. Barrett is great grandson of Juan Jose De La Guerra, the original Viceroy from Spain.

Champagne was served in front of the large mural by C. Chapel Judson. Guests and members were received by Anthony Russell White, president of the Carmel Museum of Art, assisted by other board members, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Robert E. Ross, Admiral C. W. Fisher, (US Navy Ret.), Mrs. Wilfred E. van Loben Sels, and Mrs. Rogers Parratt, all of whose wives and husbands were there.

JAZZ FESTIVAL

new: the prize in the crack-erjack. In the same bag you find Mel Torme and Carmen McRae, who are two of the few really great jazz singers, polished to a high sheen and sometimes more instrument than individual stylist.

It was a delightful day when Jimmy Lyons decided that the Festival should take up permanent residence in Monterey. Nice also to know that it has paid its rent from proceeds with grants to the Bach Festival, the Monterey County Symphony Association, and to talented, young jazz musicians on the Peninsula.

On a Clear Day you can see all the way to 1968.

MARKET COMMENTARY

Dow Theory Business and Stock Market-Forecasts letter of Sept. 15 states "The industrial section of the stock market gave a very good account of itself this week and if the rails would only join in, indications would be strong that much higher prices were ahead. Buy and hold stocks but keep portfolios protected by a 25% reserve."

"Buy and hold stocks, with emphasis on issues that are fairly valued and hold promise for the future."
